Constructing Our Future - Windsor Campus

The next chapter in the life of St. Clair College involves shovels and dollars. Many shovels are in the ground and many more will follow with the largest expansion in the history of the College. With investments by the Federal and Provincial governments along with the donations received from our community and alumni – we are ready to enter a whole new world of opportunity. At a time when the financial world looks bleak and the employment picture in our area is dire – we are moving forward constructing our future.

College a place where students can receive the best of state-of-the-art training and facilities to prepare for our changing economy. We appreciated the visit of Premier Dalton McGuinty to see the provincial investment at work. This is a great place to move people who have lost their jobs due to the global recession, into new careers with the skills and confidence they will need to succeed.

St. Clair College's top Windsor Campus priority capital project is the $32 million commitment from the federal and provincial governments for the new Centre for Applied Health Sciences. Together, both levels of government are providing new infrastructure dollars toward the building of the Centre. The creation of this Centre will allow St. Clair College to meet the increasing demand for health sciences learning opportunities. It will also be the new home of nursing, paramedic and applied health programs.

The federal government's announcement was presented by Jeff Watson, MP for Essex. Their $16 million contribution is part of the government's $2 billion Knowledge Infrastructure Program. Sandra Papatello, MPP Windsor West, and Dwight Duncan, MPP Windsor Tecumseh, announced the Ministry of Training Colleges and Universities contribution of $16 million to the project.

St. Clair College received more than $5 million in federal funding for the Newsplex - an enhanced journalism program. The College has received the old Salvation Army building, a former city asset, at the corner of Victoria and University Avenue, from the City of Windsor as their commitment to the growth and revitalization of the city. Veronique Mandal, a former Windsor Star reporter and the current director of the College's journalism program, said the funding would be used to purchase cutting edge equipment so her students could learn practical skills that would help them land jobs in the rapidly changing world of journalism. Constructing Our Future - Thames Campus

The shovels are excavating on the grounds at our Thames Campus. The result is a transformation of the campus and better opportunities for students heading into careers after being prepared at St. Clair College in Chatham-Kent.

We have seen this development of the Thames Campus with the recent groundbreaking for its $9 million dollar new HealthPlex facility. This is the first major development project on the campus since it was built 35 years ago. The Chatham HealthPlex will be over 50,000 sq. ft. with a double gym, running track, fitness centre, space for aerobics and other activities as well as much needed classroom space.

Chatham-Kent-Essex MP Dave Van Kesteren said the investment will provide a significant short-term economic stimulus to Chatham-Kent and will create jobs in the region. "Our government is investing in innovation to create jobs, to help the economy recover quickly and to improve the quality of life for Canadians."

Chatham Mayor Randy Hope, MPP Pat Hoy, Dr. John Strasser, MP David VanKesteren.

Student council president Kaitlyn Nantais believes the facility will serve many purposes. "We've really been waiting for this," she said.

Construction will also start on a new 18,000 sq. ft. Trades & Technology addition. This addition is possible as a result of an investment of $2.2 million dollars from each level of government for a total of $4.4 million dollars.

convergence, which means reporters will be trained in multiple mediums using the latest gear.

College President John Strasser attributed the highest enrollment in our history, to the fact that students are keen to learn practical skills that translate into jobs upon graduation. The province's Second Career program -- which pays for displaced workers to go back to school -- is also responsible for the boost, he said.

"The way the economy is moving today, people are more and more concerned about having a job at the end of the education process and Chatham-Kent-Essex MPP Pat Hoy said that by investing in St. Clair College, the province is supporting new construction and renovation projects that will create construction jobs in the short-term and provide more opportunities for students to develop the skills they need for jobs of the future. Hoy said the funding will create more opportunities for research, learning and training. "It's vital to help our community, young and old, to build their lives and contribute to our economy." He said the new addition will allow students and staff to work in new and spacious facilities -- "classrooms and labs with access to the latest technologies that will push the boundaries of what tomorrow's students and researchers can discover."

"These are exciting developments for Thames Campus," St. Clair College President John Strasser said. "I am confident the community will benefit greatly from the enhanced skills of graduates who will enter the workforce after acquiring knowledge in a modern facility." He said the need for workable space for students at the campus is crucial.

Lynn McGeachy-Schultz, Director of College Advancement, called the planning for these facilities a long journey. However, she believes when completed they will be a "very attractive drawing card." "We promised the students and the community we'd get this done, and we in fact will do that," she said. "Today, I have a mix of emotions. I'm thrilled, excited, anxious and relieved. But mostly, I am profoundly grateful."

So, it is a great time to be part of the Thames Campus of St. Clair College in Chatham-Kent. The investments being made are the keys to a better, well-trained and healthy workforce to meet the challenges of the global economy. At Thames Campus -- we're already constructing our future!

they're seeing that college provides that very readily so more and more people are taking that option," said Strasser.

Enrollment is up in disciplines like health sciences and law and security, but Strasser was especially pleased with the "incredible" interest in the college's new border services program, which is designed to churn out customs officers, immigration officers and food inspection agents.

The number of adult learners -- defined as adults who have been away from high school for a year or more -- has remained steady. Adult learners

Alumna Penny Parkes Gets Gold

St. Clair alumna, Penny Parkes, wins gold medal in badminton at Sydney 2009 World Masters Games.

The Games were held at Sydney Olympic Park and our amazing venue was at the sports centre within the park. They played in two large gyms in the sports centre with approximately forty courts. The courts were all lined specially for badminton and ceilings were nice and high. Lighting was a little challenging at times, but we all were in the same boat and fortunately got used to it. The World Masters games were all sports, almost like an Olympic games. They are held every four years with the next World Games to be held in Italy. We were told that the Games in Sydney had 28,000 athletes participating, more than the Olympic Games in Greece. In badminton alone there were over 800 athletes. I had the opportunity to compete against athletes from Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, Japan, Germany, Australia, and New Zealand, just to name a few. Some of the athletes from these countries were All England Champions, World Cup and Barcelona Olympic Medal Champions. So exciting to play against some of the best in the World. My final game was against the Japanese National Champion and I was thrilled to win the gold against her in the match.

2010 Canwest Canspell Regional Spelling Bee

We are pleased to announce the St. Clair College Alumni Association's ongoing participation as a sponsor for The Windsor Star Canwest Canspell 2010 Regional Spelling Bee.

As in 2009, our association will be celebrating the success of the spelling bee finalists by hosting a "Breakfast of Champions" on Saturday, February 13th at the St. Clair College Centre for the Arts.

Over sixty schools in Southwestern Ontario have registered to compete in this year's Windsor Star Regional Spelling Bee.

Finalists will be selected through classroom/school bees held in January at each of the registered schools. The finalists will move on to compete in The Windsor Star Regional Spelling Bee on Sunday, February 21, in our Chrysler Theatre at the St. Clair College Centre for the Arts.

Over 20 regional competitions culminate at the Canwest Canspell National Finals in the spring as the regional winners compete for the Canspell Cup. The regional winners then move on to compete internationally at the Scripps National Spelling Bee.

Since its inception in 2005, Canwest Canspell has become a phenomenon, with more than 225,000 students participating last year. Canwest Canspell is a free program offering students in Grades 4-8 the opportunity to challenge themselves while sharpening their study and spelling skills. Students also have a chance to earn a spot in the regional, national and international competitions where success is rewarded with special events, travel and thousands of dollars in Canspell Education Awards.

The St. Clair College Alumni Association and The Windsor Star are extremely excited about this sponsorship and the opportunities that will come from our partnership.

Insurance Deductibles Explained

You are at work and there is a break-and-enter at your home. A side window used to gain access is significantly damaged and several of your possessions are stolen. You present a claim for the insured damages. How does your deductible impact your claim?

The deductible is the amount that you are responsible for paying toward a claim before the benefits of your policy are applied. Your insurance company covers the remainder of your claim up to your policy limits. For example, if the deductible you selected at the time of purchase is $500 and you experienced the above loss, you would be responsible for paying the first $500 of the repair bill. Your insurance company will take care of the rest (up to your policy limits).

Deductibles are generally applied to comprehensive and collision coverage purchased on your automobile and you choose the amount. It is important to note that the higher your deductible, the lower your premium will be. Similarly, there is a choice of deductibles available on your home policy; higher deductibles will also lower premiums.

In some instances, other deductible benefits are available for purchase from your insurance provider. At Johnson Inc., we provide access to Vanishing Deductibles for all auto policies (except in Alberta) and all home policies. With a Vanishing Deductible, if your claim exceeds $6,000 more than your deductible (excluding earthquake on a home policy), your deductible will be waived.

We also offer additional home products that will trigger the Vanishing Deductible at a lower claim amount than the $6,000 mentioned above. In addition, we offer Reducing and Single Deductibles. A Reducing Deductible means that your deductible will reduce by a pre-determined amount (depending on your coverage) for every year that you have been claims-free and continuously insured with us. A Single Deductible means that if we insure both your home and auto and you have a claim involving both, you only have to pay a single deductible.

If you are interested in learning more about the competitive rates and services Johnson Inc. provides St. Clair College Alumni Association members, please call 1-800-563-0677 or visit www.johnson.ca/sccaa.

Alumni Golf Tournament

Our 2009 St. Clair College Annual Alumni & Friends Golf Tournament was a great success.

Held on Saturday, July 25th at Kingsville Golf & Country Club, we had the most golfers participating in many years.

Each hole of this unique course was challenging for most, except two of our participants. We were elated that golfers Cindy Crump and Rob Reid both got a hole-in-one at our event!

Think about it, two holes-in-one on the same day, at the same course, two different holes, in the same tournament!

That's what makes it a memorable day. By the way, neither hole was the designated $10,000 Hub International Hole-in-One Hole.

Thanks to all of our Alumni & Friends who golfed or joined us for dinner on such a beautiful day.

A note of thanks to the alumni and companies who donated prizes or sponsored aspects of the tournament.

The CAW Child Care Centre's administrator and 2008 Alumni of Distinction, Gina Liovas addressed the students and guests as guest speaker.

Family Fun Day

Our 2nd Annual Family Fun Day, was a great success!

National Medical Lab Week

Medical laboratory professionals play an important role in the maintenance of your health. They work in many settings including hospitals, private laboratories, universities, research facilities, public health laboratories, and veterinary clinics. Whether it is a blood test, a throat swab or a biopsy, tests performed by medical laboratory professionals provide vital information about your health. Doctors depend on laboratory test results to accurately diagnose and treat illness, and monitor patient health. In fact, up to 85 per cent of decisions about diagnosis and treatment are based on laboratory test results. National Medical Lab Week will be held on April 18th-24th, 2010.

Raise-A-Reader Day

The St. Clair College Alumni Association was proud to be a major sponsor of the local Raise-A-Reader Campaign in Windsor – Essex on Wednesday, September 24th. This was our second year as a sponsor.

Alumni Board members Serge Bertucci and Jody Cloutier were stationed at a local Tim Hortons from 6 am until 9 am selling a special edition of The Windsor Star.

Raise-A-Reader is a nationally recognized CanWest fundraising event that creates awareness of children's literacy in our city, province and country. In just five years, this national campaign has raised more than $7.45 million for literacy programs across Canada and has grown into a year-round initiative with important fundraising events taking place throughout the year across Canada, leading up to Raise-a-Reader Day. Locally, with the assistance of our volunteers and celebrities, we have collected more than $135,000.00.

One hundred per cent of all money raised in Windsor and Essex County through the Raise-a-Reader program goes directly to local literacy initiatives. The Windsor Star is committed to the Raise-a-Reader program devoting resources, promotion and editorial support to ensure the success of the program for the betterment of the community.

The Alumni Association hosted a "thank you" breakfast in the Skyline room of the St. Clair College Centre for the Arts (SCCA) in downtown Windsor, for all those volunteers who participated all morning selling the newspapers.

Donation to Scholarship Fund

The scholarship and bursary fund administered by the College's Foundation received a shot in the arm in November, when the Horticultural Trades Association of Windsor (a chapter of Landscape Ontario) donated $3,000 to the existing Don Klinck Scholarship - one of the College's several academic awards that the organization regularly funds.

Past President of the Trades Association, Karl Klinck, presenting the donation to St. Clair College Vice President of Corporate and Community Services and Foundation Executive Director Judith Harris.

The endowed scholarships provide financial assistance to needy and worthy students enrolled in the Horticulture-Landscape Technician program. (An "endowed" scholarship is one which operates, from year to year, in perpetuity, with a substantial base amount of money. Only that account's annual interest is used to allocate each year's scholarship.)

General scholarship applications are available, online. For more information surf to: www.stclaircollege.ca/scholarship/index.html.

Only one application is necessary, as applicants will be considered for all scholarships if they meet the eligibility criteria.

A scholarship committee made up of faculty members, program chairs and administrators selects the successful candidates for these scholarships, based upon criteria established by the donors.

The Scholarship Award Presentations will be held in February for all Windsor campus recipients.

The College's Foundation seeks and obtains support from companies, organizations and individuals, to make a huge number of scholarships and bursaries available to full-time students. Contact the Foundation office if you would like to contribute.
