

2020 Spring Elective List – K600 Business Chatham Campus

LBS 110G – COMMUNICATION ACROSS CULTURES
Students will discover the importance of social qualifiers (such as gender, race, and class) and social agencies (such as family, school, and workplace) to better understand the various elements of both intercultural and intracultural communication. The course provides students with opportunities to explore several cultural environments both within the classroom and within the community; to write reflectively about what they have learned; and to make interactive group presentations about their own cultural research. By the end of the course, students will have improved their ability to both appreciate the complexity of cross-cultural communication and to be effective cross-cultural communicators.
Section 501-1558	ONLINE May 19th – August 7th, 2020 (12 weeks)	Limit: 60	Instructor: Cooper, Stephanie Lois	Room: 115
LSW 100G – LITERATURE: SHORT EXPOSITION
This general education course has a dual purpose: to raise awareness of enduring and current issues, and to express the impact of these issues on oneself and society. Students examine a variety of issues such as class, gender, race, individual and group behaviour, ethics, morality and conflict as portrayed in short expository prose selections. They engage in classroom discussion, and demonstrate understanding of these issues through various writing assignments. Emphasis is placed on broadening the student's understanding of the impact of literary elements and devices on Canadian and World Culture, and to effectively express that understanding through writing projects.
